

Revolves around a public utility driver from a third world country. His daily life drama and battle around transporting passengers to avoid the daily grind of commuting traffic of the highest densely populated city in the world. The poverty, love, laughter, and grief are rolled into one on the usage of the flying jeepney that become his livelihood upon embarking the new land transportation system of the government implementing SkyJeep program.